The delegation started the day by officially opening Ramatsherema Pre-School donated by Eskom Medupi and donating winter clothes to the learners as part of supporting Early Childhood Development in rural areas. Still in Bangalong, the MEC officially switched on the Vodacom tower which will address broadband (network) challenges previously experienced by residents who used to travel long distances to make phone calls and other services. Also in support of Tata Madiba's wish of prioritising education and curbing illiteracy, the MEC and the Mayor donated learning material, sanitary towels and school shoes to learners at Bangalong Primary School and Bahlalerwa Secondary School in Ga-Monyeki Village. When addressing the learners MEC Mokaba-Phukwana, reminded them that unlike the youth of 1976 who lost their lives in the fight against injustices, oppression and the imposing of Afrikaans as a medium of instruction by leaders of apartheid era, they do not have challenges hindering them from learning and shaping their future for the better.

The MEC also condemned in the strongest terms the use of alcohol and drugs and urged them to refrain from engaging in sexual activities as it will destroy their future. "I am pleading with all of you to honour the legacy of Nelson Mandela by focusing on your studies and refrain from rushing in to sexual activities and alcohol/drugs consumption. Make sure that when you are at school you make use of every opportunity to better your future and make your parents proud" said the MEC.

The MEC said the fact that the Mayor annually launches 67 projects aimed at bettering the lives of rural communities aligns with Nelson Mandela's quote when he said "Every leader who is a nation builder has programmes that will better the lives of disadvantaged South Africans". The launching of the 67 projects by the Mayor has become a tradition for the Municipality in which the Mayor launches live changing projects to assist disadvantaged and needy communities.

In his keynote address, Ramaphosa said former president Nelson Mandela was a leader celebrated by the whole world, whom was also committed to advancing the interest of South Africans and he will be remembered for his role in bringing Peace, love, unity and forgiveness in the country.

“We must all learn from Tata, who at all times put the interest of others first. Madiba wanted programmes that would get rid of diseases, inequality, illiteracy and poverty” Ramaphosa said.

He added that the R6 million Centre is a much appreciated initiative which goes in line with government's efforts to address challenges facing Early Childhood Development Centres.

Health Minister, Aron Motsoaledi, appreciated the fact that the Centre has a ventilation space that prevents the spread of Tb.

According to the Minister, TB is the number one killer disease which continues to take the lives of South Africans at an alarming rate with HIV/AIDS becoming the second killer disease. He also expressed concern on the high infection rate of TB in the Waterberg District. “I am appealing to every one of you to ensure that you get screened for TB. Waterberg District Municipality is the third in the country with a high Prevalence of TB with the first being Lejweleputswa District Municipality in the Free State followed by Dr KK Kaunda District Municipality in the North West.

SOCIAL SECURITY GOES TO MOKURUANYANE

Through its Integrated Community Registration Outreach Programme (ICROP), South African Social Security Agency (SASSA) visited Mokuruanyane Village in Lephalale on the 27th of July 2017. The aim of the visit was to reach out to socially excluded communities in order to ensure accessibility, availability, adequacy, and affordability of social services and benefits. Services that were rendered on the day included amongst other

- Facilitation of beneficiary enrolment and registration processes as well as issuing of smart cards that gives access to benefits under seven welfare programmes
- Raising awareness and providing information on existing benefits and services
- Provisions of access to pay points where smart cards can be used at a minimal cost and within reduced waiting period
- Home visits by social workers to ensure that individuals unable to go to hospital or leave their homes due to disability or sickness have access to services and benefits

Acting Mayor, Cllr Malose Marakalala said that the Municipality will support all programmes that improve the lives of local communities. He also urged the community to register on the Municipality's indigent database to be able to get free services such as water and electricity.

MAYOR LAUNCHES HIV/AIDS COUNCIL!!

Lephalale Municipality took a step towards addressing HIV/AIDS, when the honorable Mayor, Cllr Moloko Jack Maeko, officially launched the Local Aids Council (LAC) and Local Aids Council Technical Committee.

The functions of the LAC will be to advise local Municipalities on policy issues related to HIV and TB, to offer guidance on the implementation HIV and TB Provincial Strategic Plan and local operational plan, resource mobilization, monitoring and evaluation of the implementation of HIV and TB provincial strategic plan and to ensure participation in activities leading to calendar events (World TB Day, STI Condom Week and World AIDS Day)

In His Address, the Mayor highlighted the importance of people knowing their status as everyone is either affected or infected.

“Always remember that all of us are either infected or affected by HIV. If you are not personally infected, obviously there is a person who is close to you who is infected. So you are affected. We must preach the gospel of ABC - Abstain, Be faithful or Condoms. This gospel may sound old and monotonous, but it saves lives” said the Mayor.

“The other challenge that we have is that some of the people who are HIV positive ignore treatment; just like some TB patients. We must come up with programmes to make sure that these patients get and use treatment”.

Cllr Motlokwa addresses at winter career expo programme...

Acting Mayor, Cllr William Motlokwa and Eskom delegates with learners from various schools in Lephalale who attended the Winter Career Expo

Addressing learners of various High Schools around Lephalale during the launch of Medupi Winter Career Expo Programme on the 3rd of July 2017 the Acting Mayor of Lephalale Municipality, Cllr William Motlokwa said this programme takes place during the month internationally declared as Mandela month, it also takes place during the year of Radical Economic Transformations as declared by the united nations general assembly.

“The timing of this career expo is very relevant as it will expose our learners to skills needed for them to transform our economy” said Motlokwa.

“As the construction of Medupi is heading towards its final phase and Medupi is at a process of reducing unskilled labour and increasing skilled labour, this is an opportunity for you learners to identify where you will fit.”

He further said the Municipality appreciates the progressive working relationship with the current management of Medupi led by Project Manager Phillip Dukashe.
